
Figures

Our figures are cast in high quality metal alloy. Most come with separate heads (both service caps/and tin helmets) and some have separate arms - thus enabling the modeller to vary the poses of individual figures. Drill holes for the heads carefully to avoid damage to the collar. Separate parts can be glued using epoxy adhesive or superglue (ACC). Always follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Further variants of the 'A' and 'C' Class will be released in due course – including the stanchion wagons and the later fixed sided versions.

About W^D Models

W^D Models was launched in 2007, following frustration at the lack of high quality figures for the First World War modeller in 4mm scale. Having introduced a growing range of figures, thoughts have turned to a range of artillery, motor transport and light railway vehicles – again selected to fill gaps in the market for the Great War modeller. We hope that you enjoy building the models in our range and welcome your feedback.
